Earthquake PREPARENESS

Golden Bear insureds with personal lines or commercial lines earthquake coverage should report claims as soon as reasonably possible in one of the four ways indicated on this Claims Services page. The United States Geological Survey, USGS, website provides up-to-date information on earthquake occurrences in the United States and around the world. It also provides information on what to do before, during, and after an earthquake. Insureds are encouraged to review the USGS website before an event occurs, so they are better educated and better prepared to avoid property loss and personal injury.
